DETAILED ACTION

1. The following is a quotation of the second paragraph of 35 U.S.C. 112:
The specification shall conclude with one or more claims particularly pointing out and distinctly claiming the subject matter which the applicant regards as his invention.

2. Claims 16-21 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 112, second paragraph, as being indefinite for failing to particularly point out and distinctly claim the subject matter which applicant regards as the invention.

In claim 16, the method is vague and indefinite since the use of the single “using” step is unclear because it fails to define what “use” is being claimed for the “boarding pier”. Examples of possible uses include, being used for boarding planes, as a structural strengthening member, or even as a means of keeping construction workers employed. Also in claim 16, the term “interstitial” is vague and indefinite. The limits and bounds of this term is unclear. The specification itself provides numerous definitions, but the claim language provides no clarification as to what limits are being claimed. In claim 21, “using at least one large aircraft” is vague and indefinite. First, the limits of “using” is unclear, i.e. does it mean “docking”? Secondly, using a “large” aircraft creates a contradiction in terms. In order for the term “regional aircraft” to be considered definite, the Examiner is assuming this term is used as defined in the specification (i.e. a plane seating 6-110 people.) If this definition is used, however, it makes the claim of a “regional aircraft boarding pier” that accommodates a “large aircraft” unclear.

3. The nonstatutory double patenting rejection is based on a judicially created doctrine grounded in public policy (a policy reflected in the statute) so as to prevent the unjustified or improper timewise extension of the "right to exclude" granted by a patent and to prevent possible harassment by multiple assignees. See In re Goodman, 11 F.3d

1046, 29 USPQ2d 2010 (Fed. Cir. 1993); In re Longi, 759 F.2d 887, 225 USPQ 645 (Fed. Cir. 1985); In re Van Ornum, 686 F.2d 937, 214 USPQ 761 (CCPA 1982); In re Vogel, 422 F.2d 438, 164 USPQ 619 (CCPA 1970); and, In re Thorington, 418 F.2d 528, 163 USPQ 644 (CCPA 1969).

A timely filed terminal disclaimer in compliance with 37 CFR 1.321(c) may be used to overcome an actual or provisional rejection based on a nonstatutory double patenting ground provided the conflicting application or patent is shown to be commonly owned with this application. See 37 CFR 1.130(b).

Effective January 1, 1994, a registered attorney or agent of record may sign a terminal disclaimer. A terminal disclaimer signed by the assignee must fully comply with 37 CFR 3.73(b).

4. Claims 1-21 are rejected under the judicially created doctrine of obviousness-type double patenting as being unpatentable over claims 1-36 of U.S. Patent No. 6,315,243 or over claims 1-12 of U.S. Patent No. 6,732,975. Although the conflicting claims are not identical, they are not patentably distinct from each other because, although different terms are used in the claims, no structural differences are defined within the claims.
